Join us and your young colleagues for our first-ever YOUNG BAR MEMBERS-ONLY CLE LUNCH!

Are you or your clients or anyone you know buying or selling any real estate? Or even just thinking about it? Important tax changes are afoot that you should know about!

Within the last year, the Quebec Government has introduced new legislation modifying an Act respecting duties on transfers of immovables. Come hear De Grandpré Chait real estate lawyers Ashley Kandestin and Jacqueline Stein enlighten us on the topic of the "Taxe de Bienvenue" 2.0.

One hour of CLE will be granted by the Barreau du Québec and this talk is approved for education credit by the Chambre des Notaires. A complimentary buffet-style kosher lunch will be served.

About our speakers:

Mtres Kandestin and Stein practice real estate law at De Grandpré Chait. They act on behalf of real estate owners, developers, and lenders in transactions involving property acquisitions, financing, restructuring, development and leasing. Ashley is an active member of various organizations in the Montréal legal community, including having sat on the Montreal Bar Council. Jacqueline earned two LL.M.s, from King's College London and Université de Montréal, specialising in business law, both international and domestic.
